Fallows," he looked up. "It shows a consistent attention to detail that is very pronounced . . . everything thorough and complete, and properly documented. It's commendable, very commendable . . . the kind of thing we could do with more of in the Service." "Admiral Slessor," the communications operator murmured in Bernard's ear, "Battle Module. -" "All covering positions manned and standing by," one of the duty crew sang out from a station inside the command post. "We could probably arrange a visit for you too," Chang offered. "There's a large fusion complex along the coast that supplies power and all kinds of industrial materials for most of Franklin. Another one's due to be built soon, and they'll be needing people too. I could arrange for you to go and see it, if you think you'd be interested." Juanita saw the expressions on Bernard's and Jay's faces. "Are you claiming that we're any more violent or barbaric than your societies? We've never had a war. We've never dropped bombs on houses full of people who had nothing to do with the argument. We've never burned, maimed, blinded, and blown arms and legs off of people who just wanted to live their lives and who never harmed anybody. We've never shot anyone who didn't ask for it. Can you say the same? Okay, so the system's not perfect. Is yours?" The boy watches through the glass door and the windows as the hostess greets the trucker and escorts. When Jean appeared in the doorway, Bernard was fiddling with an assembly of slides and cranks that he had set up in a test jig. She watched while he pushed a tiny rod which in turn caused all the other pieces to slide and turn in a smooth unison, though what any of them did or what the whole thing was for were mysteries to Jean, Bernard pulled the rod back again to return all the pieces to their original positions, then looked up and grinned. "I have to take my hat off to Army training," he said. "I'll say one thing for Steve Colman-he sure knows what he's doing. Our son has produced some first-class work here." He noticed the expression on Jean's face, and his manner became more serious. "Aw, try and snap out of it hon. I know everything's a bit strange. What else can you expect after twenty years? You'll need time to get used to it. We all will". Later, when she poured a third portion of vodka more generous than either of the previous rounds, she. "No offense taken," Noah said. "No sane person ought to have confidence in a guy whose business." "Veronica made it!" Jean exclaimed delightedly. "Steve, I don't know how you handled it all." visiting from Beyond. Pale and willowy, the woman spun and swooned and jerked erect and spun again, Even disheveled, in the dirty rumpled full-length slip with its squashed and filthy flounce, Sinsemilla was. Jean looked at him with a worried face. "Jay's come back with all these things, and he's trying to say he got them all for nothing. He's claiming that anyone can just help themselves. I've never heard such nonsense." "You can't control me with a name!" "Then you don't know how to look yet, honey. There's a dish of pickles, some olives, a bowl of potato." "What's your name, boy?" Bernard, Pernak, and Jean stared at the picture for a long time. Pernak's eyes were very serious, and Jean began biting her lip apprehensively. At last Bernard nodded and looked at the other two. "Okay, I'm with you," he told them. "Most of the people making all the big speeches out there aren't equipped to handle this. I don't think Iberia matters too much one way or the other anymore, but we need to get Lechat in on it-and fast." "You shouldn't stray from right here, son. There's all kinds of people in the world, and some you don't. when she'd been whole, her shattered recollections were scattered across the darkscape of her mind in. In the week following Lechat's brief term as Director, the laser link from Earth had brought news of the holocaust engulfing the whole planet. Then the signals had ceased, and for five years there had been nothing. No doubt many pockets of humanity had managed to survive, but mankind's first attempt to establish an advanced civilization had ended in failure - or almost in failure, for it had served its purpose; it had lifted humankind from its primitive, animal beginnings to a level where human, not animal, values could evolve, and it had hurled a seed of itself outward to take root, grow, and blossom at a distant star. And then it had died, as it had to. Fate possessed the sharper teeth, the stronger jaws. different reasons. Some serpents were more frightening than others: the specimens that
